

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

Dr. Peyton R. Henderson Ends Life With Revolver at His Home in Louisville.

Dr. Peyton R. Henderson, formerly of Breckenridge county, ended his life by twice shooting himself Wednesday, September 25, at his home in Louisville. Dr. Henderson had been a sufferer of rheumatism for several years. He worried greatly over his condition, fearing that he would become dependent upon his family. The family had just finished supper when Dr. Henderson went to his room, and on hearing the pistol shots his wife rushed to his side just in time to catch the dying man in her arms. A physician was summoned immediately, and every thing was done to revive him but all in vain.

Dr. Henderson was fifty-one years old. He went to Louisville when eighteen years old, and entered the medical department of the University of Louisville, from which he was graduated and given his M. D. degree four years later. After practicing three years in Louisville he took a special post-graduate course in surgery at a New York college.

Dr. Henderson was married in 1879 to Miss Rose Shanks, a daughter of the late Thomas Shanks, who was for years sheriff of Jefferson county. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Misses Olive and Louise Henderson, both well-known school teachers, and a son, Hugh Henderson. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Edward Foot, of Owensboro, and by the following half brothers and sisters; Mrs. J. H. Conly, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. G. W. Jolly, of Owensboro; R. E. Henderson, of Boston, Mass.; and Mrs. Nora Board, T. B. Henderson and L. E. Henderson, all of Irvington.

WHICH IS WHICH?

The above half-tones are pictures of Mrs. James Stith and Mrs. Allen Kingsberry, who are twin sisters. They resemble each other so much that even their best friends can hardly tell them apart. Their eyes are of the same color and their hair has the same tinge of brown. Both Mrs. Stith and Mrs. Kingsberry have a charming manner that has made for them many friends.

FALL TRADE EXTRA GOOD

Merchants Are Doing A Fine Business In Cloverport.

The merchants of this city have received a large portion of their fall goods and are having a splendid trade. The season is opening with good prospects and every body seems to have the cash.

The milliners are having a rush on their ready-to-wear lines and their pattern hats are all spoken for and ordered. The correct things in the way of clothes can be purchased in this town and at more reasonable prices than in the city.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army of 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton, of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by Severs Drug Co.

River Too High

To Replace Coffor-dam

The coffer-dam in Salt river put down by the Henderson Route to enable them to get a reliable foundation for the central pier for their new bridge gave way Saturday morning while a large force of men were at work within and about it but no one was hurt. The river is now so high that replacing the Coffor-dam will be out of the question for the present.

MARRIES A CLOVERPORT GIRL

Mike Siem And Miss Ollie Beavin United In Marriage.

An interesting romance culminated in the wedding of Mr. Mike Siem and Miss Ollie Beavin which took place this morning at eight o'clock in the St. Rose Catholic church in this city. Father Celestine Brey officiated in the ceremony.

Mr. Siem's home was formerly at Serd, Russia, where he left his heart six years ago. On his voyage he planned to return after a few years to get his Russian bride, but time passed and when he was ready for her, she was not willing to leave her home and folks, and he was not willing to leave America. However it all turned out for the best and Mr. Siem's heart crossed the deep blue sea and turned completely to the American lady. Cupid soon got busy worked up a courtship between him and Miss Ollie Beavin, a Cloverport girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beavin.

The bridal couple will make their home at this place where Mr. Siem has a tailoring and cleaning establishment.

Congratulations.

It is a matter of universal gratification that the greatest prosperity, the largest attendance and the brightest outlook in its history is now being enjoyed by the Bowling Green Business University at Bowling Gree., Ky. The institution is to be congratulated on its continued and increasing success and usefulness.

ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION.

Will Not Use Money or Whisky to Influence Votes--A Clean Man With a Clean Record.

To the Public:

When I was nominated for Representative, I was in Louisville on business, and did not return home until Sunday night. At the time I left home on Thursday it was generally understood that another man would be selected as the candidate. As a matter of fact the nomination was offered to him on the day the convention met, and he declined it.

Under these circumstances, I naturally desired to consult with my friends over the county. Having done so, and they having advised me that I should and must make the race, I accept the nomination, though my relatives are very much opposed to it.

I stated to those I consulted, as I now frankly say to the public, that I will not, under any circumstances, use any money or whisky to influence or buy the election, nor will I authorize or permit it to be done for me. My race shall be clean and free from abuse and ill-feeling. Owing to the fact that only a month intervenes until the election, I will not be able to make a complete canvass, but will see all the voters possible.

The attention of the people is called to the platform adopted by the convention, which I fully indorse.

Very respectfully,
JOHN P. HASWELL, JR.
